

Amarillo Vote Tops County

Randall County Commissioner Precinct 4 has more than three-fourths of the registered voters in the county, figures released by the tax collector's office show.

The figures show 5645 paid poll taxes and 648 exemption certificates issued. In addition, there are a number of eligible voters who are overage and live outside Amarillo—the figure is estimated at 500 to 600. Total registrations for voting purposes are 6293.

Two years ago, in the last general election year, there was a total of 7573 poll taxes paid. That year the Precinct 4 boxes had 74.6 per cent of the registered voters. This year they have 75.8 per cent.

Precinct 4 includes voting boxes 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15. All but boxes 5 and 6 are inside the city limits of Amarillo. The six boxes inside Amarillo have 4350 voters from 3786 poll taxes and 564 exemptions.

The tax collector's figures show that Precinct 4 has 4559 voters, Precinct 1 (Canyon, boxes 1 and 13) 1402, Precinct 2 (Umbarger, boxes 2, 7 and 8) 221, and Precinct 3 (boxes 3 and 4) 111.

Outside of the eight voting boxes in Precinct 4, there are 1734 registered voters.

All boxes in the county had fewer registered voters this year than in 1956. The 1956 registration by boxes is:

Open Expressway To Traffic

Fighting Heart

Dory Funk Jr., senior tackle on the Canyon High football team, was named winner of the Fighting Heart Award for this year at the annual All-Sports banquet Friday night.

Chamber Prexy Snips Rope

In a blowing, cold, sopping-wet snow, Clarence Eugene Thompson, president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, cut a rope to open the first south section of the Amarillo-to-Canyon Expressway at 10 a. m. today.

A motorcade of eight cars led by Sheriff L. S. Johnston made the first official trip on the new highway from the underpass north to the top of Canyon Hill, then turned around and made the trip back—some turning west toward Hereford and others driving straight back to the beginning.

The two-mile section of the expressway was started just before Christmas, 1956. Contractor for the project was Ivan Dement of Amarillo and the contract price was approximately $1 million.

The stretch of expressway includes four over-and-under passes, three at the south end as a traffic interchange between U. S. Highway 60 and 87, and one at the top of the hill to accommodate traffic to the new Buffalo Stadium which will be built during the next year.

It is expected that the next section of the expressway, from the top of Canyon Hill to Bell Avenue, will be up for bidding in May.

Attending the opening this morning were Chamber of Commerce officials and motorists who wanted a quick ride on the new highway. None of the city or county officials, except Sheriff Johnston, attended.

Engineer Okays Maintenance Bid

A request by the Randall County Commissioners Court for the state highway department to take over maintenance of two county-paved roads was approved this week by the district engineer, Chili Smith, and forwarded to the state office.

The roads are the Umbarger road leading from Highway 60 just east of Umbarger 1.8 miles to a farm road, and 5.5 miles of the Pullman Switch road from the Potter County line to the Claude road.

If the request is okayed, the state will be responsible for maintaining the pavement rather than the county. The roads were paved by the county, using county funds.

Amarillo Firm Gets Widening Contract

The contract for widening Fourth Avenue was awarded to Gilvin and Terrill Construction Company of Amarillo, according to information received by the city secretary, Andrew Boggs.

The bids for the project were opened last Wednesday in Austin by the highway commission. Boggs said the city had been told that construction should start in about three weeks, with removal of the present curb the first part of the job.

Tuesday morning engineering crews from the highway department began marking reference points on the sidewalks on each side of the avenue.

Outstanding Player

Named Outstanding Player in basketball for this year was A. L. Pruett. The traveling award was given him at the All-Sports banquet Friday.

On Abstract Art

(The following is excerpted from an editorial by Editor Jenkin Lloyd Jones in the Tulsa Tribune—Editor.)

We wince every time we see a cartoon lampooning a so-called "modern art" show. We shudder whenever we read hilarious news stories such as the one recently about the trained parrot whose canvasses were unwittingly given prizes at a Los Angeles exhibit.

And the reason why these things bother us is because it is tough enough to sell culture to the American people without culture going out of its way to render itself laughable.

In spite of the fact that 100 years ago Americans pretended to admire Jenny Lind they really preferred Old Zip Coon. The great-great-grandchildren of people who danced to Buffalo Gals are now whistling The Jailhouse Rock. Only by great efforts have our fine orchestras by playing fine music gradually begun to generate a perceptible thirst for better things.

We tremble to think what would happen, however, if, in the interests of abstraction, our great orchestras would start beating on jawbones and wash tubs, or if they started pouring molasses in their tubas in order to get unusual bubbling sounds, or if they attempted to depict the complexities of modern civilization by twisting cats tails and revving up jet engines.

We submit that if in the field of music we went off into such aberrations the cause of music appreciation in America could be set back by decades in a single year. There is enough discord and dissonance in life. People would not pay to sit in a concert hall and be assailed by more.

Does the field of art contain any unique immunity toward public disgust over that which is ugly, crude or just plain incomprehensible?

It would be silly, of course, to rail against innovation. Newness is no evil. The 19th century impressionists, the Gauguins, the Matisse's, the Renoirs, the Surratt's, the Van Goghs swept away the superstitiousness of the 18th century Gainsborough and Reynolds schools and blew a fresh, clean breath into art.

But if newness implies no guaranteed evil, neither does it guarantee improvement. And when we look in on our latter-day abstract exhibits, with the critics violently quarreling among themselves over whether a canvas means anything or nothing and with the open-mouthed public looking on in amazed disbelief, we wonder if true art is being advanced or simply lampooned.

Recently we attended an exhibit of Illinois artists at the Chicago Art Institute. The blue ribbons had all gone to bright colored daubs containing triangles, whorls of color, splashes, and bits of paper and glass. Tucked far away, unhonored and unnoticed except by the onlookers, were some Illinois farm scenes that stopped you with their beauty. Some were stylized, a little reminiscent of Grant Wood. Some had the warmth of John Stewart Curry. But all were plainly Illinois, so that a person in another century could gaze upon them and understand something of the place and time and people.

We collared one of the judges and asked him how come there were no honors for realists. "Ah," he said, favoring us with a supercilious smile, "you like the calendar art?"

Calendar art? Well, then Constable made calendar art, and Van Dyck, and the Breughels, and Turner and Inness. It's an art form in which, if you're going to paint a cow, it had jolly well better look like a cow. But you can pretend to paint an abstraction of a cow, and who can check upon it? You can say you are painting your psyche or your fears or your inmost thoughts, but who knows what these look like? Yet as long as you maintain this sublime subjectivity you are released from all rules and all disciplines.

One cannot advocate art in a strait-jacket. We are well aware that some fine artists have rejected realism for abstraction or surrealism. Georgia O'Keeffe is one. Picasso, in his long-ago "blue-period," proved to our satisfaction that he can paint. Behind Dali's dripping clocks there is the sure hand of a splendid technician, who, we think, has discovered the gold in contrived eccentricity. Non-objective art is now old enough so that, it seems to us, some conclusions can be drawn. And one is: Does it live? If we were doing a master's thesis we would collect 25-year-old art magazines, and copies of pre-war Time and Fortune and Life. We would make note of those non-objective artists over whose paintings these publications drooled. And then we would go to New York and find out what these canvases are worth today.

For one doesn't keep hearing the names of these so-called great innovators. The straight gin Martini crowd is always yodking off after another new fox. And we think that is evidence that much of our art criticism is based upon standards composed of one part stardust, one part sheep dip and one part bubble gum.

The public is never brilliant. But the public is never crazy. If it keeps laughing, perhaps some of our museum directors should begin to listen.

in the 1930's did the "Robin Hood of Texas" become nationally known. Since then, Bass has been the subject of a dozen motion pictures.

Gard's next book — (it will be out in the Spring) — is the biography of a horse: Steeldust, the old-time racer that has become almost a legend.

"Cap" Curry of Fort Worth who lived in Breckenridge during the oil boom and afterward, recalls a wagon going through the streets with a sign reading:
"Water or oil, $1 a barrel; take your choice."

There was a rock-and-roll song which, when it came out, I thought had reached the absolute limit in simplicity of words. It went like this:

"Jim Dandy to the rescue"
(Thump-de-thump by the drum)
"Jim Dandy to the rescue"
(Thump-de-thump)

But one has come along since then that makes Jim Dandy's words complicated. The words of this later song are just two and they are as follows, to-wit:

"He's mine."
This is said over and over with now and then, "Yes," thrown in for good measure.

I am planning to write a song of only one word — a one-syllable word and then sit back and watch the royalties from the juke box records roll in — you might say, rock-and-roll in.

A young newspaperman was going to go from Fort Worth to San Angelo but decided to see something of the country by going by way of Amarillo. At Wichita Falls, he went by the newspaper office on the chance that he might earn a little travel money by a few days' work and found that the owner had been trying to call him by long distance in Fort Worth to offer him a job.

He accepted the job—temporarily; and remained with the paper the rest of his life, which spanned many years. He was B. D. Donnell, who was editor for a long time. He was one of the most gentlemanly men it has been my privilege to know.

All It Takes

Fishermen are a funny lot. In this part of the country, the season runs from mid-March or early April to late October. The rest of the time the water is just too cold for fish to do much feeding.

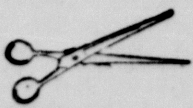

Every fisherman knows that full well. When the water's too cold, the fish just won't bite. Yet on any warm day in the dead of winter, you can find fishermen at Buffalo Lake, checking up to be sure that the water hasn't warmed.

Sunday, for instance, there were 102 fishing permits sold at Buffalo. That many fishermen were out checking. Some may have caught a fish, but it's a pure accident at this time of year.

That's all it takes to be a fisherman. Eight or so months of muddling to good fishing, and four months scratching an itch that can't be relieved any other way than fishing.

Since this was considered a heinous crime by settlers and authorities alike, the illicit liquor-sellers would peddle their wares by concealing the flat bottles in their high-topped boots when there was a chance of getting caught. Hence the term "bootlegger." It might be we should go modern and call this segment of our citizenry "cartrunkers."

City Water System Supplies 2.37 Square Miles

By DAN MUDD

The new water supply line being constructed west of the city is making the people of Canyon more conscious of their Water and Sewer Department and some of its everyday functions. The present water system supplies an area of 2.37 square miles, the area within the city limits. A total of 13 miles of mains, ranging in size from 2" to 14," make up the distribution system. In addition to supplying homes and businesses in Canyon, it also provides water for approximately 100 fire hydrants.

The Water and Sewer Department crew, under the supervision of Glenn Sparkman, water superintendent, has as its duties handling the distribution system within the city, making repairs, reading water meters, making water taps, keeping the water pure, and various other jobs.

In short, the department's primary responsibility is furnishing a safe, dependable supply of water at adequate pressure for home, business, and fire-fighting purposes. The crew also checks and operates the fire hydrants periodically to insure their reliability in emergencies.

Water is pumped from seven wells located northwest of the city. The wells are capable of pumping 1,828 gallons per minute. The new addition to the system will provide three more wells, four sections of water rights, and a 14 mile supply line of 18" pipe running west of Canyon toward Umbarger. It should be in operation by summer.

The Canyon water system includes two elevated towers, which provide adequate water pressure, fire protection, and an additional source of water supply. They can hold 300,000 gallons of water and are full all the time to put out a constant supply. When the water level in the towers lowers about two feet, the pumps at the booster station, located northwest of Canyon, automatically refill the tanks.

All the pumps must work around the clock to provide an adequate supply of water and pressure. Water is stored in four underground storage tanks, which feed water into the booster pumps.

In case of power failure, a 165 h.p. gasoline-powered emergency pump goes into use as an auxiliary unit. It can pump about 1,000 gallons per minute. It has been necessary to use it four times when power failure developed.

Before water reaches home or business, it is chlorinated to purify it. This is done at the booster station. Chlorine gas is automatically fed into the water according to the number of gallons per minute leaving the booster station to be transferred to the city.

Four powerful booster pumps are capable of delivering 4,250 gallons per minute through the 14" line leading to Canyon. The Canyon water system maintains a pressure of about 58 pounds.

Pipe freezeage is no problem in Canyon as the distribution system is laid at least 30" under the ground. The frost line in this area is about 18."

The average gallons of water pumped per day during winter months is 450,000 gallons, and during the summer months it reaches 1,500,000 gallons. The record consumption for one month was in July, 1957, when the total reached 57,918,000 gallons. The total production of water last year was 266,712,000 gallons.

Value of structures of the water department is about $506,000, and the sewer department structures are valued at about $185,000. The water system in Canyon has 1467 water meters. The department repairs its own meters as well as maintaining its own repair shop.

Glenn Sparkman and Wayne Price trace a water line on the map kept up by the city showing both water and sewer lines installed.

WHAT ABOUT QUALITY?

Sheriff (something of a wag) — I would, but it's awful hard to get anything on them.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Headline Items

Two matters of controversy in the National Capital fought for the headlines last week. On one day both seemed to win in one of the Washington papers, as both appeared in equal headings on the front page. One of these matters involved Texas, while the other was concerned with the investigating Subcommittee in the House of Representatives digging into the Federal Communication Commission's activities.

The item involving Texas was the letter written by the Republican Chairman of Texas in connection with soliciting funds for a $100 a plate dinner to be addressed by Honorable Joseph Martin, the top leader of the Republican Party in the House of Representatives. Texas is always fair game for headlines in this part of the country.

This letter, which appeared to be soliciting funds for political activities and talking about the Natural Gas Bill, was just too much for the commentators and columnists back here in the consumer areas. They hopped onto it like the proverbial duck hopped on the June bug. The opponents of the Natural Gas Bill were in high glee over the whole affair.

It furnished them new ammunition with which to carry on their continuing fight to centralize in Washington the powers now enjoyed by many of the states. The entire transaction was a tragic setback to the proponents of the Natural Gas Bill, provisions in which are for the purpose of relieving independent producers of gas from domination by Washington bureaucracy.

It might also be said that it was a setback to the forces that are continually striving to prevent further encroachment upon the rights of the individual, as well as the states. If the trend continues in the future as it has in the past, it would seem that the near future would bring control, either direct or indirect, of the rates on all utility matters into the hands of federal agencies.

The other headline item to which I referred also had to do with federal bureaus. The investigation of these boards and bureaus will furnish a great deal of news material in the future.

Just about two weeks ago I predicted in a radio broadcast that this Subcommittee would be in front page news during this ses-

Celebrate Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. CLEM FRIEDEL

High Mass Marks Golden Wedding Anniversary for the Clem Friemels

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Friemel marked their Golden Wedding anniversary recently with a High Mass in St. Mary's Catholic Church and a dinner for friends and relatives.

Married Feb. 11, 1908, at High Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Friemel attended a High Mass, said for their intentions by Father Marthaler.

The altars were flanked by golden gladiolus and fern. Pews were marked with golden leaves and lily-of-the-valley. Mrs. Friemel wore a corsage of white carnations and yellow pom-poms, backed with white satin leaves and gold lace.

A dinner honoring the couple was held in St. Mary's Hall for 75 relatives and friends. The honorees' table was laid with a hand-drawn linen cloth, imported from Mexico, over gold. A two-tiered wedding cake with a gold tiara and the numbers "50" encircled with tiny sugar beads was used to center the table.

The guest tables were banded with gold lace and centered with gold lace arches from which hung frosted white bells, bearing the inscription "1908-1958" and placed in an arrangement of lily-of-the-valley and fern.

A gold framed picture taken of the couple on their wedding day was used on the registration table. Approximately 200 guests called on the couple in their home in the afternoon. In describing the anniversary, Mrs. Friemel said, "I wasn't able to have a nice wedding and I have really enjoyed this day. I think it is the happiest day of my life."

The Friemels were married on a bleak and rainy day in the St. Mary's Church at High Hill. A week after their marriage, they moved to Umbarger. Shortly after that, Mr. and Mrs. Friemel moved into the home in which they are now living, although the couple has lived in several other places. During the time that they were living 24 miles west of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Friemel missed attending Sunday Mass only twice.

Both are active in activities of St. Mary's Parish. Mrs. Friemel is sion. In my opinion, surpluses of foodstuffs that God created for the preservation of man are a great benefit. Surpluses of individuals who cannot find work to feed themselves and their loved ones are a plague.

Bushland, Tex., Man Reports —

"Good Years, and Bad, My Maize Averages 4,000-lb.-per-acre Grain."

Bill D. Wood, Bushland, Tex., says: "Some years any farmer can get good yields on certain crops—well, I use Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia to maintain high yield levels. I've used Phillips ammonia for six years on irrigated maize, and come good and bad years I've averaged out better than 4,000 pounds of grain per acre.

"Why, on wheat alone, I paid for seed and fertilizer and made $15 net an acre grazing it, when I used Phillips 66 ammonia. Then after that, I cut a 40 bushel wheat crop. I'm sold on Phillips 66 ammonia for my cash crops."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that, by using the 82% nitrogen in Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia, they get more cotton that grades out higher at the gin . . . yields of grain sorghum grain and ensilage are increased . . . more marketable vegetables are harvested . . . and profits on wheat are increased through better forage and higher grain yields.

A Better America

National Library Week is to be observed throughout the nation March 16-22. This week will be used, not only in our school but in others all over the U. S., to emphasize the importance of a better informed people with a wide knowledge gained from an extensive reading program.

The slogan for this week is "For a better read, better informed America." During this week each of you could take time out to visit our local libraries. Our own libraries are an example of the thirst for better and wider reading which has led to the creation of libraries in our nation, giving the privilege of learning both to the young and to the adult, to the rich and to the poor. Take time to read and rediscover the delights and challenge of the written word.

The basis of our cherished democracy is a well-informed people. Only when people are well-versed in our modern life can we have a smooth running and an effective form of government with the characteristics of a republic.

For this reason we not only need to keep abreast of current world happenings, political and social conditions and important issues, but we need a well-rounded background in the thoughts, philosophies and achievements of others. Basic ideas and concepts are gained from others through reading. We need to inform ourselves in these things that other men have done before us and are doing now.

By reading books, both classics and current publications, we can add to our small experiences and opportunities the experiences and knowledge of many able men. We can let their ideas lay in our minds and grow into our own thinking and accept them for our betterment. We may then transplant them in time to the minds of others who come after us.

The blessing of printing has enabled us to know of others' ideals, lives, goals and thoughts. To Gutenberg, the inventor of printing, and to Caxton, the man who introduced it to the English people, should go much praise for their contribution to our way of life. Radio and television are wonderful media through which to learn the essentials of our modern world. Only through reading, however, can we learn and grasp the smaller and yet important details, especially of things in the past.

But do not wait until after National Library Week. Remember, a well informed people are a free people but ignorant people serve in bondage.

Burkett and Funk Named Royalties

Climaxing a week of activity and speeches, Lynda Burkett and Dory Funk were crowned Personality Queen and King in the personality assembly held Feb. 14.

An election with all eligible seniors as candidates was held to determine the best personalities in CHS. The final runoff list included Lynda and Dory as well as Janet Wheeler and A. L. Pruett.

These two, representing the highest ideals of our student body, were presented in the personality assembly at which the Rev. Gerald C. Findley, pastor of the First Christian Church, brought a message on personality. Using make believe which contrasted a learned high school boy with a careless popularity seeking girl as an example, he pointed out that friendliness and willingness to serve others are always good personality traits.

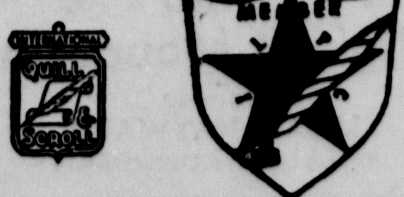

Using nine points he illustrated ways to improve one's personality. They are social conduct, home life, attitude toward school and friends, self management, management of time, solving problems, emotional maturity and social mindedness. He closed with appropriate scripture from the Phillip's translation of the Bible.

Journalism Staff Edits Magazine

"Oh, no, it cannot be," gasped Lloyd Mann.
"Oh, yes, it is," explained Pat Downing, "we have two pages numbered 27."

John Menke was simply beaming as he said, "Boy, these papers are rollin' off fast."—crash! "Whoops, the handle came off."

"Oh, Miss Payne, look what I have done," stammered Margaret Johnson. "The paper is wrapped around the roller."

"Well, Margaret, how did you do that?" asked the bewildered instructor.

"Ugh, Miss Payne, it was not easy!"

What is this all about? Well, these are some of the little "boo-boos" the journalism staff made as they pushed forth the wheels of production to publish the first magazine for Canyon High School.

It all started when they decided they needed to make some money, and they did not feel in the mood for a bake sale or car washing, so a magazine it would be. The money was needed for the $100 scholarship to be given to an outstanding senior who has had two years of journalism, and who plans to major in journalism in college.

First, there had to be a name for the magazine. Well, that is simple enough, except that each staff member had a favorite name and would not change his vote. Opinions switched as debates were given, and Eagle Echo finally won.

The cover was the next item to be mastered. Margaret, John, Pat Lloyd and Dusty Hiltbrunner tried their skills as artists. Dusty's abstract design of a tough looking eagle was chosen because of its unusualness.

Copy for the magazine was selected from a collection of short stories and essays Miss Payne's freshman classes wrote for the fun of it, and from some material Lloyd sneaked from the seniors, sneaked because the production was kept secret until date of announcement.

Margaret and Pat had just finished running off on the mimeograph machine 200 copies of a short story to be used. They discovered that Lloyd had made a mistake in the stencil copy spelling Pueblo, Pueblo. John took the optimistic view, saying "Oh well, as long as we do not have any subscribers in Pueblo we will do all right."

The weary little journalists gave signs of pride and relief and started taking in the money with "Hum—wow" sighs. There was a feeling of it being well worth the work.

Publish Magazine

Compiling and printing a school magazine, Eagle Echo, the staff of the Eagle's Tale has spent several weeks. The subject matter of the publication is CHS student writing. John Menke, left, is busy inking the mimeograph machine used to run off copy; Pat Downing, center, shows signs of fatigue as she looks in amazement at the total stack of sheets to be assembled; and Lloyd Mann, right, concentrates on cutting a stencil.

Higdon's Aims Are Sociology and Music

Being of service to people is Louise Higdon's aim in life. She plans to become a social worker in connection with her church and use her life to help others. She plans to major in sociology in college.

With a great interest in music, both choral and vocal, she plans to minor in music in college. She has had 11 years of piano and also some vocal instruction. Louise was one of the 16 to go to All-Region Choir from CHS.

In school, she likes choir, languages and business courses. She has received two English awards and one Spanish award. She is a member of the NHS, secretary of FHA in her junior year, and she was in the junior play.

She is a member of the Spanish Club, in which she has served as vice president and secretary of the club. She is also secretary of the CCYC.

Her hobbies are music, swimming and reading. Being busy as most seniors, she spends most of the time studying, at her church, music, or just plain enjoying life.

Picaros Select La Reina, El Rey

La Reina Peggy Sue Hales, queen, and El Rey Richard Purcell, king, were chosen by Los Picaros Spanish club members Feb. 20. Officers were elected for the term and committee chairman and court jesters designated.

Those elected as officers were Richard Purcell, president; Sherry McDaniel, vice president; Betty Gouge, secretary; and Charles Nester, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Margaret Juniper, program; Tom White, recreation; and Jeanie Coombes and Carole Jones, refreshment.

To complete the court of the king and queen a new plan was devised. Two court jesters were elected. Tom White and John Wear were chosen. The runners-up for king and queen became nobles and ladies of the court.

Ladies of the court are Barbara Lindsey, Margaret Juniper and Carole Jones. Nobles of the court are Robert Blythe, Charles Nester and Robert Ray Henry.

Miss Marilyn A. Payne, is sponsor of the group.

Committees Plan The Twirp Social

From reports, the twirp spirit will be the theme of an all-school social March 8, in keeping with Twirp Week which follows March 11-14.

Each of the appointed committees is developing plans for the party.

The decoration committee discussed the theme but plans are now tentative because the finance committee must decide the amount of money to be contributed by each class.

Decoration committee members are Gwen Kelso, chairman, Ted Fowler, Jeanne Whinnery, Dwayne Pettit, Billie Jo Hutton, Charles Wagner, Candy Throckmorton, and Zeke Clements. Advisers are Mrs. Lillian Graham, Mr. Sidney Burgess and Mrs. Joe Findley.

Finance committee members are Ken Engle, chairman, Gayle Welch, Melba Haile, Bob Winn, Billy Miller, Billy Weddington, Norma Henderson and Ira Burgan. Advisers are Mrs. Dan Sanders Mr. G. D. Inman, Mr. O. H. Schuette, Mrs. A. K. Knott, Coach Lynn Hulsey and Miss Claudia Neelley.

The publicity committee met Friday morning and made plans for newspaper coverage, posters and various announcements at assembly and over the public address system.

Members of the publicity committee are Lloyd Mann, chairman, Barbara Brown, Margaret Juniper, Larry Brotherton, Dorothy Higdon, Weldon Gray, Karen Parker and Bill Cornette. Miss Marilyn A. Payne is adviser.

Plans are incomplete for the refreshment committee. Membership of this group is the following: Pat Hardaway, Carroll Wright, Carolyn Campbell, Craig Hinger, Wilma Burkett, Jerry Blythe and Terri Ridge. Mrs. Clara Long is the adviser.

Entertainment will be of four types announces the entertainment committee. Committee members will be divided into four groups and each group will plan one phase of entertainment. The four types will be dancing, active games, table games and intermission specialties.

Committee members are Janet Wheeler, chairman, Richard Burgess, Alan Hanks, Sally Foster, Roy Harris, Marcia Barker, Charles Nester, Lavonne Patterson, Dwight McGee, and Norma Hathaway. Advisers are Mr. Herman Demus, Mr. George Cristy, Mr. Bill Davis, Mrs. Nora Gilmore, Mr. Ray Wells, Mrs. Irene Beard and Mrs. Cecil Simms.

Wright.

Mary Marshall, president of the NHS, opened the program by giving the welcome, and Craig Hinger, a new member, gave the response. Brief explanations of the four qualities of NHS members were discussed by John Robert Wheelock, scholarship; Alan Hanks, leadership; Patricia Hardaway, character; and Janet Taylor, service. Mr. J. E. Miller, principal, talked on the meaning of being a NHS member.

Dana Wilbanks, vice president, swore in the new members, while Gwen Kelso, secretary, read the names of each one as he came to the stage to receive the key and membership card.

Suzanne Lemons and Melba Haile played a piano duet, "Juba Dana," and Barbara Myers read a poem entitled "Opportunity."

Athletic Banquet Given for Teams; Royalties Presented, Awards Made

Melba Haile, Football Queen, Mayla Atkinson, Basketball Queen, and A. L. Pruett, Basketball King, were crowned, and Dory Funk was given the Fighting Heart award, A. L. Pruett, the Best Player award at the Athletic Banquet which was held Feb. 21 in the Canyon Elementary School cafeteria.

The Fighting Heart award is presented to the athlete who shows the best fighting spirit in football throughout the season and always keeps punching. Members of the team selected Dory, and Coach Bill Davis made the presentation.

The Best Player award was presented to A. L. by Coach Lynn Hulsey because the members of the basketball team voted him the best all-around basketball player.

Leonard Miller was presented a letter because of his accomplishment in making the All-State Football Team.

At the banquet the tables were decorated with purple and white streamers, and the head table was laden with trophies.

Frank Kimbrough, WTSC athletic director, was toastmaster, and Joe Kerbel, Texas Tech assistant football coach, was the guest speaker. Supt. Joe Gibson gave the invocation.

The teams were introduced by the coaches, Bill Davis, Lynn Hul-sey and L. H. Brotherton, girls' basketball coach. Senior athletes were given special recognition.

Musical entertainment was presented by Mary Helen Demus, and the cheerleaders led the school song.

This is the only banquet of the year anyone may attend so that interested friends and parents may be present.

Burgess Prefers Math and Sports

With a jolly laugh and a pleasant smile always handy, Richard Burgess, Smile King and CHS football star, can always be seen in the halls making life a little more enjoyable with his friendly smile and good nature.

Richard, who has played six years of football, has made the first All-Region football team once and the honorable mention team once. He is best known here, though, as captain of the Eagles.

Math has been his favorite subject in high school and he plans to major in it in WT next year. He plans to minor in physical education or business, and play football for the Buffaloes.

As a freshman, Richard was class favorite. In his junior year he went to state in discus throwing and also made the All-Region first team in football. This year as the captain of the Eagles he completed his sixth year and made the honorable mention team. As Smile King he reigns over all smiles this year.

Richard is undecided as to an occupation. For hobbies he likes sports and hunting. His pet peeve is the "Saturday quarterback" who tells you the next day how you could have won.

Richard's father, Mr. J. E. Burgess, works for WT and his mother is a housewife.

FTA Hear Teachers
The FTA Club met Feb. 17 in the Canyon High School cafeteria. Mrs. T. E. Beard, Mrs. Dan Sanders, and Coach R. D. Wheelock were guest speakers giving talks on "Why I Became a Teacher."

Mrs. Sanders said that she enjoyed boys and girls and enjoyed working with all types from the trouble-maker to the teacher's pet. Coach Wheelock had wanted to be a baseball player, but he chose a career of teaching athletics instead.

Mrs. Beard told the FTA members that when she was a little girl her older sisters had helped her with her homework, and she had always looked forward to the day she could help boys and girls. Refreshments were served.

Senior Play Selected
"Ghost in the Belfry" was the play selected to be given as the annual senior class play. The class made the selection in a meeting Feb. 20.

"June Graduate" and "Calling All Cars" were under consideration also at the time of selection. Summaries of these plays were given by Mary Whealy, Mary Gladys Marshall and Louise Higdon. Following the summaries a vote was taken which determined which would be used.

FTA Meets With Chapter
Delta Kappa Gamma Pi Chapter of Amarillo extended to all surrounding FTA groups an invitation to attend their meeting Feb. 15. The D. A. Shirley Club from CHS had 20 members present, the largest number in any group.

A panel of classroom teachers, special education teachers and a minister presented a program on the responsibilities of teachers. The program was planned especially for FTA members and teachers which are just beginning their careers.

Miss Marilyn A. Payne, president of Delta Kappa Gamma, presided over the meeting. A song service started the evening's activities. Following the song recognition was given to the various groups.

Dr. Hill Given 30-Year Award

A pin and card commemorating 30 years of service to Scouting were presented to Dr. J. A. Hill by the Randall District Committee Monday at its monthly meeting.
Dr. Hill began his service as council president in 1928, when the council was composed of all the Texas Panhandle north of Lubbock and the Oklahoma Panhandle. At that time there were 600 scouts in the council.
This year the Llano Estacado Council is composed of only nine counties in the Texas Panhandle and there are 5000 scouts. Dr. Hill has been district chairman for a number of years and was replaced this year by Dr. Joe Findley.
Committee reports at the meeting showed that there are 64 scouts, 110 cubs and 38 explorers in the district as of the last of January.
Milton Morris told of a council T-Man Training Conference at Amarillo Air Force Base on March 15 and 16. The conference is planned to train teams of workers from the various districts to be used in training adult workers in scouting.
A Blue and Gold banquet for Pack 34 in Happy is scheduled for 7 p. m. Thursday in Happy.

Juniors Eligible For NMSC Tests

Second semester juniors and first semester seniors in Canyon High School may take the National Merit Scholarship qualification test on April 29, Principal J. E. Miller has announced.

The tests, which are used primarily for awarding scholarships to outstanding students who are financially unable to continue their education, can also be used for counselling juniors as to their weaknesses and strengths, and for planning their senior year.

Miller said those who wish to take the test must register in his office before March 20. A charge of $1 is made to each student who takes the test, although a limited number of students will be tested free in the event of financial hardship.

The tests are administered by Science Research Associates of Chicago for the scholarship corporation. Each year the corporation awards thousands of scholarships to outstanding students. This year, some $5 million worth of four-year scholarships were awarded.

The amount of each scholarship is based on need.

The qualification test is used to screen possible scholarship winners. Those who place high on the first test are given additional tests until the final number of winners are selected.

All students will receive a report of their scores. The test results will enable them to understand their present academic strength and weaknesses, will give them facts with which to plan their senior year, will help them decide about going to college, and will enable them to select college courses of study in which they are most likely to succeed.

Miller said 15 Canyon high juniors have registered up to this week.

Set Film Showing At Calvary Baptist

A professionally-made motion picture on the life of Martin Luther and the beginnings of the Protestant Reformation will be shown at the Calvary Baptist Church, 605 Fourth Avenue, at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

The public is invited. No admission will be charged and no offering will be taken.

The showing will be sponsored jointly by the Brotherhood and the Woman's Missionary Union of the church, according to the Rev. Aaron Mann, pastor.

Observer Post Has First Alert

Delta Echo Zero Five Black, Canyon's Ground Observer Corps post, had its first official alert from 2 to 5 p. m. Sunday.

The alert was held at the observation post, the top of the county courthouse. The observers reported six aircraft through the filterstation to Oklahoma City. The alert was an exercise only.

Participating in the alert were Earl Crump, chief observer and post supervisor, Chester Reynolds, assistant to Crump, Mrs. Gloria Crump, recorder, Ginger Crump, Ralph Cabe Jr. and Mrs. Calvin Costley.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

By MARION E. EVERHART
Range Conservationist

Ranchers and livestock farmers often wonder how to tell whether their native pastures are improving or declining. They can tell when major changes take place such as the dying out of grass and weeds take over, but when the weeds are no longer present they need indicators to tell how the pasture is faring.

Ranchers need to know the grasses that grow in their pastures before this can be done. After they learn the grasses they must know the production potential. This can be learned by observation, from trained technicians, and from experience in managing rangeland. The following general types of range land and the best indicators are given.

Short Grass Prairie

Heavy clay type soils compose the short grass prairie. The top grasses are blue grama and buffalograss. These grasses are both short and seldom grow over 12 inches in height. As this type of rangeland declines the indicators by stages of deterioration are as follows:

First stage: Blue grama will die out and buffalograss will spread to cover this area.

Second stage: Buffalograss will thin out and sand dropseed, prickly pear and annual weeds will spread to cover this area.

Third stage: Buffalograss is still present, along with perennial weeds, prickly pear and annual weeds. Brush such as mesquite where adapted will invade. In this final stage management will call for brush and weed control requiring chemical spraying or similar measures, deferred grazing, and light use.

Short-Mid Grass Prairie

loam soils compose the short-mid grass prairie. The top grasses are sideoats grama and blue grama. Sideoats grama grows to a height of 20 inches and is called a mid grass. As this type declines the indicators by stages are as follows:

First stage: Sideoats grama will die out and blue grama will spread to take its place.

Second stage: Blue grama will thin out and sand dropseed, buffalograss and silver bluestem will take over.

Third stage: Blue grama makes a thin stand along with prickly pear, annual weeds, and yucca (bear grass). Mesquite where adapted will invade. In this final stage management will call for brush control requiring chemical spraying or similar measures, deferred grazing and light use.

Mid Grass Prairie
Light sandy loams and shallow light soils compose the mid grass prairie. The top grasses are little bluestem and sideoats grama. These grasses grow to a height of 30 inches on this type. As this type declines the indicators by stages are as follows:

First stage: Little bluestem will die out and sideoats grama and shorter grama such as hairy and blue will spread to take its place. Hairy grama is adapted on shallow soils.

Second stage: Sideoats grama will thin out and blue or hairy grama, sand dropseed, silver bluestem will take over leaving some bare spots.

Third stage: Blue or hairy grama, sand dropseed, yucca, and brush such as red berry juniper and feather dalea cover the area. In this final stage management will call for brush control requiring mechanical methods, deferred grazing and light use.

Mid and Tall Grass Prairie
Sandy soils and overflow or sub-irrigated bottomland soils compose the mid and tall grass prairie. The tall grasses are sand bluestem, Indiangrass, switchgrass and tall or giant dropseed. The mid grasses are little bluestem and sideoats grama. The tall grasses grow to a height of four feet or more. As this type declines the indicators by stages are as follows:

First stage: The tall grasses will die out and the mid grasses will take their place.

Second stage: Good mid grasses like sideoats grama will thin out and less desirable mid grasses such as sand dropseed, silver bluestem and perennial three awn will take their place. Short grasses such as buffalograss, blue or hairy grama will increase.

Third stage: Short grasses occupy the site along with poor mid grasses, weeds and brush such as shinnery oak, sand sagebrush, mesquite on bottomland, and yucca. In this final stage management will call for brush and weed control requiring chemical spraying or similar measures, deferred grazing and light use.

General Indicators
Silver bluestem spreads only when lightly grazed or rested. Sand dropseed spreads on most heavily grazed ranges (where adapted) except during very dry years. Brush spreads when turf is opened by heavy grazing or dry weather.

Annual weeds spread on all but heavy turf when rainfall is above normal. Ranges will improve in the reverse order if correct management is given to correct this problem.

Ranchers and livestock farmers should consult the Soil Conservation Service technician assisting their local Soil Conservation Dis-

Bush-Slack Vows Exchanged in Waco; Shamrock Will Be Home of Couple

Alma Jane Bush, daughter of Irving Lee Bush Sr. of Clinton, Mo., became the bride of Harrell Hill Slack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burney Slack of Canyon, in a ceremony Saturday night in the Seventh and James Baptist Church in Waco. The Rev. Charles Welborn, pastor, read the service.

Robert Cunningham sang "When Thou Art Near," "Dedication," and "The Lord's Prayer." Buryl Red played traditional wedding music on the organ.

The vows were exchanged before an altar centered by a white wedding arch decorated with emerald foliage and white chrysanthemums. On each side were symmetrical cone-shaped trees of white chrysanthemums, pedestal vases of white stock and clusters of white tapers in candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over candlelight satin, with seed pearls and lace insets accentuating the bodice. The formal-length skirt terminated in a cathedral train trimmed with roses of satin and lace. Her tiered fingertip length veil was attached to a pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Sue Martin was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Sue Milburn, Mrs. Buddy Johnson and Mrs. Lewis Stephens. They wore royal blue satin dresses and carried single long-stemmed white roses.

Flower girls were Laura Lee Kendrick and Lynette Slack, and the candles were lighted by Jefferson Kendrick and Blair Kendrick.

Best man was Eddie Lee. Groomsmen were Irving Lee Bush Jr., Bryce Slack and Jim Roberson. Ushers were James M. Kendrick, Frank Lady and Claude Money.

A reception was held in the Baylor Union Building following the ceremony. A cherub-based epergne arranged with white stock, candy-tuft and carnations, flanked by matching cherub candelabra centered the serving table.
